

of governments, the unexpected changes in business conditions, the astounding new developments in science, medicine, international affairs.

As the news (and the U. S. view of that news) grows more personally important to every one of us, it grows harder to follow without the kind of special help that TIME can give.

As a result, the demand for TIME's services has grown so world-wide that TIME prints editions in key cities around the globe from film flown from our U. S. presses. Then printed copies are flown to TIME readers in 180 countries and possessions in all parts of the world.

Thus internationally-minded people everywhere keep informed on the news of the U. S. and the U. S. view of the news of the world at the same time that the same clear, concise report is being read in the U. S.

I feel almost certain that you will find TIME as useful in your personal and business life as do the presidents, prime ministers and potentates, professional men, educators and businessmen who regard TIME as indispensable in helping them to understand the week's confusing news.

I am pleased to couple this invitation with an opportunity for you to subscribe at the Special Introductory Rate of U. S. $12.50 for one year, which saves you $2.50 under the regular price of $15.00. If you wish to take advantage of the extra convenience of a two-year subscription, there is an additional saving of $1. And in certain countries you may pay in your own currency, as indicated on the enclosed card.

To start TIME coming to you every week from now on, just fill out the card and send it back to me--today--in the envelope provided.

Cordially,
